Let's Start!

Let's watch a movie!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about wishes and imaginary situations.
- I can talk about feelings and impressions.
- I can exchange opinions.

Ask your partner:

- What is one of the easiest meals to make in your opinion?
- How do you feel making or eating elaborate meals?

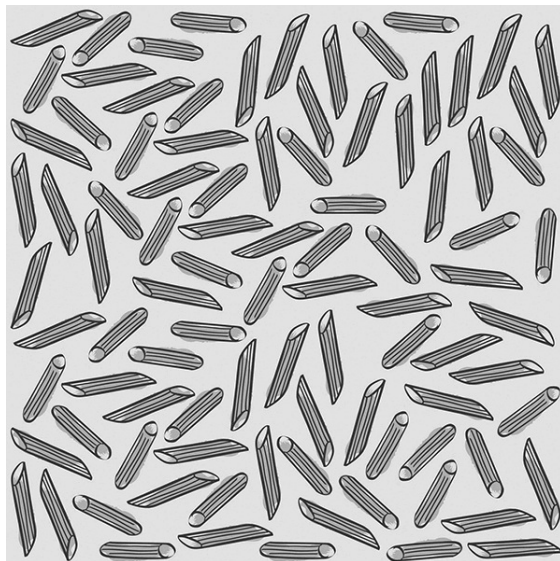

Let's Explore!

Vanessa thinks the scenery in the movie was stunning!

* When something is "stunning", it is extremely beautiful.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Well, what did you think?

Vanessa: I'd say that was just what we needed. It was a bit confusing to start but turned out to be charming, amusing and quite touching. The scenery was stunning.

Sally: I'm glad we weren't disappointed. I can pick up the sequel next time! Your snacks were amazing! They were both delicious and satisfying. I wish I could cook. If I did, I wouldn't have to eat out so much.

Vanessa: I'm pretty sure that I could teach you how to do some basic dishes if you wanted. It wouldn't take you long to master a few simple recipes if you tried.

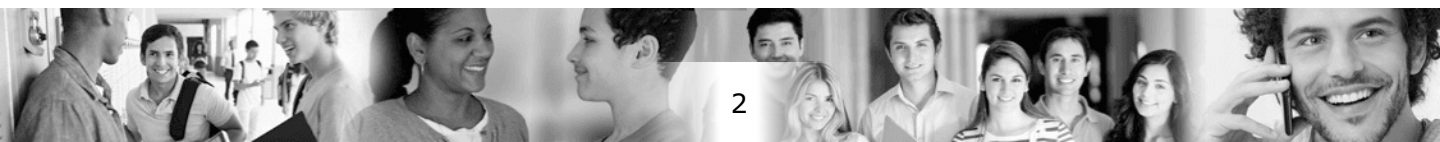

Sally: I think so too! I would like that if you had time.

Vanessa: I'm fairly certain that I could make time if we planned ahead. We could do one today if you wanted. What would you want in your fridge if you came home late?

Sally: A pasta dish would be good if it were there for me. I imagine I could manage that.

Vanessa: Of course you could. I have just the thing for you to try.

Sally: Now? Absolutely! This is so exciting!

Let's Practice!

Sally and Vanessa discuss the movie and the food!

Instructions: Read the paragraphs and circle all the adjectives that describe situations or impressions.

1. The movie was a bit confusing when it was starting. It turned out to be charming, and quite touching.
2. I have to say that the scenery was stunning. I'm glad we weren't disappointed.
3. The snacks we were eating were amazing! The food you served was both delicious and satisfying. It's exciting that you're teaching me how to make them!

Let's Practice!

Sally would love to learn to cook!

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence.

- 1) wish / I / I / . / cook / could

- 2) have / If / I / out / eat / I / to / . / so / did, / much / wouldn't

- 3) some / you / if / I / wanted / do / dishes / how / you / to / basic / teach / . / could

- 4) . / long / if / recipes / It / take / to / you / tried / you / wouldn't / master / a / simple / few

- 5) could / you / one / We / do / . / if / wanted/ today

- 6) your / in / would / What / want / you / came / late / if / home / fridge / ? / you

Extension Activity

Learning Points

Exchanging Opinions

It's always important to be polite when you exchange opinions on a topic. The person you are talking to should be polite when they respond to your opinion as well.

It's a good idea to use a variety of phrases when you give or respond to opinions, to keep the conversation interesting.

Giving an Opinion	Responding to an Opinion
I'm pretty sure that ... I'm fairly certain that ... I imagine ...	I think so too! Of course you could. Absolutely!

Examples:

- Anna: I'm pretty sure that I could teach you how to do some basic dishes.*
- Tom: I think so too!
- Anna: I'm fairly certain that you could make time to do it.*
- Tom: Of course I could.
- Anna: I imagine I could manage that.*
- Tom: Absolutely!

Talking about Wishes and Imaginary Situations

You use wish and the second conditional to talk about imaginary situations in the present or future.

Wishes and sentences in the second conditional infer that what you want is probably not possible, or for some reason impossible.

Sentence	Meaning
I wish I could cook.	I don't know how to cook.
If I did, I wouldn't have to eat out so much.	I eat out a lot now.
It wouldn't take you long to master a few simple recipes if you tried.	You haven't tried.
I could make time if we planned ahead.	I don't have time now.
