

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Ah! It's time to relax!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What things do you do to relax after a long week at work or at school?
- What do you think is the best way to unwind?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about movies and social activities.
- I can express complex statements using words like who, that or which.
- I can exchange opinions.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa has declared a moratorium on spending!

* When you "declare" something, you announce it firmly and officially.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: This is the first day that we've had together in a while.
- Sally: It's quite obvious that working is not like college. I feel tired a lot. It's depressing. I don't get to the movies. I spend my spare time on the Internet, looking for inspiration!
- Vanessa: I know what you mean. I've declared a moratorium on shopping. I want to put away some money for a trip.
- Sally: Today is all rest and relaxation! I brought along a couple of movies that are supposed to be quite entertaining!
- Vanessa: Yes, I honestly feel I need to be entertained!
- Sally: Me too. I passed up anything that looked like a tearjerker. We need something that makes us take our minds off work, I think.
- Vanessa: Yes, I suppose so. No terrifying horror or boring action films, thank goodness! This movie has that actor who won an Oscar last year.
- Sally: This one has the director who did that interesting series that we liked in college.
- Vanessa: It seems to me that we should put our feet up and start watching!
- Sally: You took the words right out of my mouth!

Let's Practice!

Who is the actor that Vanessa and Sally like?

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in column A and column B.

COLUMN A

1. I brought along a couple of movies
2. I passed up anything that
3. We need something
4. This movie has that actor
5. This one has the director who did that interesting

COLUMN B

- a. that are supposed to be quite entertaining!
- b. looked like a tearjerker.
- c. that makes us take our minds off work.
- d. who won an Oscar last year.
- e. series that we liked in college.

Let's Practice!

Sally and Vanessa are both tired after a long week!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistakes. Use capital letters where necessary.

1. It's quiet obvious that working is not like college.
2. I know that you're mean.
3. Yes, I honesty felt I need to be entertained!
4. We need something that take our minds off work, I think.
5. It seemed to my that we should put our feet up and start watching!

Extension Activity

Talk about an activity that you did.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a paragraph about an activity that you did using -ed and -ing adjectives.
- Say where you were, what happened, who you were with and how you felt.
- Clarify which people or things you are referring to using who, which or that.
- Read your paragraph to someone.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I clarify which people or things I am referring to.

☐ ☐

I talk about my feelings and the situation.

☐ ☐

I give a full explanation of who, where, what and with whom this happened.

☐ ☐

I share my paragraph with someone.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- spare (adjective): extra
e.g. I don't have a lot of spare time to do leisure activities.
- inspiration (noun): a person or thing that prompts action
e.g. I look for inspiration for my articles online.
- moratorium (noun): a suspension; stopping e.g. I have declared a moratorium on spending so I can save some money.
- to put away (verb): to save e.g. I want to put away enough money to go to India.
- rest and relaxation (expression): a period without work
e.g. Rest and relaxation are just what I need after doing all that overtime!
- to bring along (verb): to carry with e.g. I brought a couple of movies along in case you wanted to watch something.
- to pass up (verb): to say no to e.g. I would never pass up a free holiday!

Learning Points

Exchanging Opinions

When you exchange opinions, you give your ideas on a topic. Usually the person you are talking to responds to your opinion.

You can use many different phrases to exchange opinions. It's a good idea to use a variety of phrases, to keep the conversation interesting.

Giving an Opinion	Responding to an Opinion
It's quite obvious ... I honestly feel I think. It seems to me that ...	I know what you mean. Me too. Yes, I suppose so. You took the words right out of my mouth!

Examples:

• Anna: It's quite obvious that working is not like college.*

Tom: I know what you mean.

• Anna: I honestly feel I need to be entertained!*

Tom: Me too.

• Anna: *We need something that takes our minds off work, I think.

Tom: Yes, I suppose so.

Learning Points

Subject and Object Relative Clauses

When you want to clarify which person or thing you are talking about, you use a relative clause.

You can begin a relative clause with who for people, which for things or that for either people or things.

You put the relative clause immediately after the noun it talks about.

A subject relative clause describes the subject of the clause.

Example:

The woman who/that lives next door brought me a cake.

The clause - who/that lives next door - refers to the woman. Who/that is the relative pronoun. It is also the subject of the clause. Who lives next door? The woman

An object relative clause describes the object of the clause.

Example:

The apartment which/that we rented was near the center of the city.

The clause - which/that we rented - refers to the apartment. Which/that is the relative pronoun. We is the subject of the clause. Apartment is the object of the clause. What did we rent? The apartment.

Subject Relative Clause	Object Relative Clause
This is the first day that we've had together in a while. (What have we had together? The day.)	I brought along a couple of movies that are supposed to be quite entertaining! (What is entertaining? The movies.)
This movie has that actor who won an Oscar last year. (Who won the Oscar? That actor.)	He did that series that we liked in college. (What did we like in college? That series.)

